

Visually inspired by the torus,

Vortex mimics the flow of energy found in magnetic fields, storm systems, and fluid dynamics. The pathway itself is a different kind of convolution, where rhyme and reason are cast to the wind. It is an overtly complex sculpture, with a near impossible labyrinth that will bewilder and entrance for a lifetime.

Vortex

Limited Edition of only 5

Vortex was the first sculpture to be commissioned as part of the Superplexus series. It is an incredibly demanding piece to build, and is available in a limited edition. No two will be alike, as various elements of its composition and pathways are reworked over time.

Highest quality Finnish birch veneer.
Elegant crystal clear globe.
Brushed stainless steel rings.
Beautiful hardwood base.
Immensely complex pathway.

Also available: special orders and custom commissions

Creating custom, totally unique sculptures is a joy. The process starts with a discussion your interests. Next, spending time in the studio creating a concept that can be presented to you. Upon approval, actual work on the sculpture will commence.

It takes many hundreds of hours to create a completely new concept, and then to bring it to life, so please allow extra lead time of several months for this process.

Special materials can be employed. Custom Superplexus sculptures have been made from HDPE, stainless steel, and hand-painted fine quality plywoods. Other materials can also be considered and tested.

Please visit www.superplexus.com/custom for examples.

Superplexus Interactive Sculpture

Gimbaled, three-dimensional labyrinths by Michael McGinnis

As the name implies,

Circles is chock-full of rings that intersect, align, diverge, break apart, and morph all along the way. A circus of intricate shapes; an array of ball rolling acrobatics that will delight the nimble player. There is a tightrope and a gondola that must be crossed. This sculpture has been made in various sizes, and is quite challenging.

Circles

Two sizes available

Created in both 24" and 36" diameter globe sizes, each edition of Circles is individual, with varying path lengths, hand-stamped numbers and arrows, and unique changes to certain elements. Each is named for its edition in the series: Superplexus Circles, Circles 24", Circles No. 3, Circles Quattro, Circles 5, etc. Circles includes many practice inlets, and is found in collections worldwide.

Beautiful hardwood base.
Evocative looping motif.

With six interwoven pathways,

Interlace has multiple starts and ends, allowing the player to enjoy a variety of experiences and successes. This sculpture is complex overall, yet each pathway is relatively easy to accomplish, making it ideal for those who want a visually striking form and a quick series of interactive adventures.

Interlace

Two sizes, 6 paths

Unique to Interlace is a series of six individual, yet interwoven, pathways. They at times kiss, run back-to-back, whiz by one another, yet never cross. The sculpture is available in both 30" and 48" diameters. Each of the six paths are of different lengths, and they are numbered and arrowed in different subtle colors. The level of play difficulty can be adjusted by request when placing order.

Built upon a delicate structure,

Luna's form is lace-like, giving it an airy quality where visibility is paramount. This sculpture is created with split rails, rather than solid tracks. Throughout the work, difficulty is regulated by variations in the channel width. Narrow rails increase the ball's traveling speed and wider rails slow it down.

Luna

Small and portable

Fun and approachable, Luna is the first to utilize a split-rail pathway that causes the ball to travel along an open groove, making for a memorable experience. The player moves along a soft and quiet journey as the ball rolls gently along. But watch out! Pitfalls and dangers await when it is least expected. Luna does not vary from model to model, and is series numbered: 001, 002, etc.
